Tax Reduction Is Not Favored By President

Message To Congress Expresses Opposition To Any Reduction This Year

ASKS EXTENSION OF RENT CONTROL

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—President Truman told congress in unequivocal terms today that taxes should not be reduced this year and called on business to cut prices wherever possible, especially on cost-of-living items.

At the same time, Mr. Truman emphatically asked the house and senate to re-enact nationwide rent controls into law beyond next June 30 when the present act expires.

The chief executive made his recommendations in the first comprehensive blueprint of the nation's economic outlook under the so-called full employment act. It was the president's second major message to congress this week.

"Unsound Fiscal Policy"

In the present economic situation, it is clear that it would be unsound fiscal policy to reduce taxes.

"Everyone is agreed that the tax burden is great and should be reduced as soon as possible. When reductions come, it will be important that they be fairly and equitably distributed, that they contribute to the maintenance of purchasing power by reducing the burden on the mass of consumers, and that they help provide the work and business incentives essential for a high level of production."

The president said price reductions were especially needed on food, clothing, house furnishings and building materials, the cost of which has been "out of line."

In addition, the chief executive said congress should raise the minimum wage because of the increased cost of living.

Of rent controls, Mr. Truman said:

PA NEW OBSERVES

Inventory time has arrived in most of the downtown stores. PA New notes, weary clerks are seen counting items and marking the findings down on the record sheets.

Numerous dogs can be seen foraging in the East Side area of the city daily, looking for food. Most of the dogs lack licenses and look fairly thin as they hunt for a stray bone in the backyards.

PA New notes that the new cancelled stamp machine at the post office is performing yeoman service in eliminating the long waits, that parcel post patrons have been used to in the past, during rush hours when the old fashioned stamp methods were being used.

Josephine Shuler of rear 1 Fleming Way, reports that the cardinals have returned to their old feeding station there. There used to be only two customers, but this morning eight cardinals put in an appearance.

An automobile with Texas license plates was seen parked Tuesday afternoon in the 600 block of East Washington street. From the amount of snow that covered the machine, one would little suspect that it was from a state that boasts of so much sunshine.

PA New noted that numerous delivery trucks about the city were sporting one chain on Tuesday, as the trucks went about the city. The cartway of the main thoroughfares (Continued on Page Two)

Bomb Is Exploded In Denazification Court In Frankfurt

FRANKFURT, Jan. 8.—(INS)—United States Army headquarters disclosed today that a bomb was exploded last night in Frankfurt's denazification court.

The bomb, detonated at nine o'clock, caused no casualties. The extent of the damages was not revealed.

The announcement added that special agents are investigating the bombing, first in the Frankfurt area.

One anti-denazification group which set off bombs in Stuttgart is now being tried for the offense.

Three Are Killed In Gun Battle At Toledo, Ohio

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 8.—(INS)—A Toledo police detective and two other men were listed as victims today of a gun battle less than half a block from police headquarters.

Detective Lieut. John McCarthy was slain late last night in an exchange of shots with Edward Gordon Monette, 45, and John Quirk, 26, both of whom were killed also.

Patrolman John Connors received a flesh wound in the leg. Police said the shooting occurred when Monette, Quirk and a woman companion attempted to escape from a police car. The trio had been picked up at a tavern in connection with a check investigation.

Connors reported that, as the police car neared headquarters, the men made a dash for freedom after one of them stated:

"This is about as far as we're going."

The woman, identified as Lurine Fay Burd of Toledo, was held as a material witness.

Aleutians' Peak Is In Eruption

Navy Standing By To Evacuate Natives In Case Need Develops

DUTCH HARBOR, Alaska, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Akanut peak in the Aleutian islands was in "violent eruption" today, and the navy was standing by to evacuate natives.

The 4,200-foot peak is on Akutan island, 40 miles east of Dutch Harbor.

The eruption first was sighted through a blinding snowstorm Sunday afternoon. The coast guard cutter Wachusett reported seeing the peak lit by bright orange flames.

The fleet tug Sarsi reported Monday that hot lava was flowing down the mountainside.

The navy sent an auxiliary tug to Akutan harbor, site of the Aleutian village of Akutan, to rescue the natives. The settlement is six miles from the lava flow.

Russia used Akutan harbor as a secret base until the Soviet Union entered the Pacific war. It was extensive docks and storage tanks and formerly was the base for the American Pacific Whaling company.

See No Change On Italian Policy In Secretary Change

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Government officials were quick to assure Italian Premier De Gasperi today that the United States policy toward Italy will be unaffected by the resignation of Secretary of State Byrnes.

They pointed out that President Truman already has made known that he favors granting economic aid to the new Italian government and that Gen. George C. Marshall undoubtedly will follow this policy.

The Italian premier is in the United States seeking political and economic aid for his homeland and found himself in the midst of a fast-making American cabinet change.

PARKING METERS BEING INSTALLED IN MERCER NOW

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Jan. 8.—The installation of Mercer's new parking meters is expected to be completed Wednesday and Burgess Fred W. Elliott stated today that the borough's new parking regulations would go into effect Thursday.

The meters are the type to receive either a penny or nickel, depending on the length of time a machine is to be parked.

Charles Billie, newly-elected policeman who will service the meters and enforce parking regulations, started his new duties on Monday.

Retiring And New Secretaries Of State

JAMES F. BYRNES GEN. GEO. C. MARSHALL

Naming Of Marshall Surprise To Capitol

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—George Catlett Marshall, a warrior who loves peace, stood before the world today as the first professional soldier ever chosen to direct America's foreign relations.

The bombshell that burst in Washington when the President accepted the resignation of James F. Byrnes as secretary of state and named Marshall to replace him was not a tremendous surprise to those close to Mr. Truman.

The President's intimates were aware of the sincerity with which the Chief Executive said, as he presented the wartime chief of staff with an Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Service Medal:

"He is the man to whom as much as any individual the United States owes its future."

To Play Leading Role

And now, George Marshall, homebound bound from a mission to China which he acknowledged, in a sensational statement yesterday, as a failure, is destined to play a commanding role in the guidance of America's ship of state as it drives into the future.

Man Declared Dead Two Years Is Found Alive

Unusual Case Develops In Mercer County Court As Result Of Discovery

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—The sister of a Washington rancher who, for all legal purposes, has been dead nearly two years, now wants him legally "brought back to life" in a Mercer county court so the two of them can settle a family estate.

The "dead" rancher is Joseph Damian, formerly of Wheatland, Pa., and now living at Brewster, Wash. He left home in 1932 and no word ever was heard from him until recently.

Meanwhile the sister, Mrs. Anna Shenlau, of Detroit, wishing to sell the estate left the two of them by their parents, had him declared legally dead in 1945. She was waiting for expiration of the seven-year waiting period when he appeared recently, very much alive.

He readily agreed to her plan to sell the estate, but no clear title can be had until he is "resurrected" by court order.

So now Mrs. Shenlau is back in the Mercer County court of Judge George H. Rowley seeking to have his Honor set aside the 1945 order.

Engineering Works Name Is Changed

Pennsylvania Engineering Works Of City Becomes Pennsylvania Engineering Corporation

Effective December 31, 1946, the Pennsylvania Engineering Works firm name was changed to Pennsylvania Engineering Corporation, it was announced today by William S. Wheeler, president of the corporation. There is no change in the officers, directors, or personnel and all assets, liabilities, contracts, agreements, etc., have been merged in the new firm name.

At the same time, it was announced a dividend of 25 cents per share had been declared out of 1946 earnings, payable January 10, to stockholders of record as of December 31.

The Pennsylvania Engineering Works was incorporated in 1939. The corporation builds blast furnaces and steel mill equipment.

SISTERS KILLED BY LEAKING GAS

ROCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—Mary Lou Christie, 17, early today lost her fight against the gas fumes which killed her 16-year-old sister, Beverly, in a rented room in nearby Van Port.

Mary Lou died in Rochester General hospital 24 hours after she was admitted.

Police said the sisters were poisoned by gas fumes from a stove in a room they rented when they moved out of a single room where they had been living with their father and two other children.

SNOW PLOWS ARE NOT YET NEEDED

Intermittent snow on Tuesday kept the highway crews on the alert all day, and the cinder trucks were out before six o'clock this morning to take care of the roads for the early morning traffic.

So far, snow plows have not been needed for this snowfall.

Compromise On Armed Merger Being Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Army and navy department officials are seeking a compromise on the merger issue in the hope of heading off a renewed battle on Capitol Hill.

Congressional armed services committees are expected to mark time of unification bills to give the army and navy time to get together on a plan both will accept.

Despite President Truman's renewed and flat recommendation for a thorough merger, it was learned that army and navy officials are negotiating to see whether they can get together in something acceptable to the two departments and Congress.

An official who disclosed the compromise move added his opinion that fear of crippling budget cuts is spurring the compromise efforts to get together wherever money can be saved.

See Shakeup In State Department

Resignation Of Byrnes Expected To Be Followed By Other Changes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—State department personnel today anticipated sweeping changes at top levels following the resignation of Secretary of State Byrnes.

There was also wide speculation on the influence on foreign policy which might follow the change.

Topmost of these in earliest speculation was the future of relations with Argentina.

Those close to the situation felt convinced that Assistant Secretary Spruille Braden would step out, inasmuch as Byrnes is being succeeded by a military man, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Previous reports have been that the War Department was particularly interested in establishing a military alliance of the 21 American republics. The State department, with a policy largely developed by Braden, has operated on the theory that no arms pact could be entered into until and unless the Argentine regime of President Juan Peron drives out Axis undesirables who collaborated with the enemy during the war.

New Storm Roars Upon Aleutians

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 8.—(INS)—A new storm with winds ranging up to 140 miles an hour roared down on the Aleutian islands today in the wake of a 48-hour blow last week.

The commander at Attu told navy authorities that the center of the new storm is 250 miles southwest of his island. It is expected to reach the Aleutians later today, bearing winds from 85 to 140 miles in velocity.

Rear Admiral F. A. Daubin, commander of the 17th naval district estimated earlier that last week's storm did damage of more than $250,000 to naval installations in the Alaska area.

No navy men were injured.

GUN WIELDER SHOOT'S FOUR IN CROWDED CAR

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Police sought a gun wielding man today after four persons were wounded, one critically, as the climax of an argument in a crowded Milwaukee street car.

The most seriously wounded passenger was Jean Sernet, 18, who told the police the man was an uncle. She was shot near the heart.

Passengers said he engaged in a controversy with Miss Sernet for several minutes preceding last night's shooting.

They said he suddenly whipped out a pistol and began shooting. The man, who was not identified by police, fled in the darkness when the motorist stopped the car at a street intersection.

MAKES BIG STRIKE

LONDON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—A lot of people have put in their two cents worth but never with the eminently satisfactory results of J. Davis.

Davis, a $35-a-week Yorkshire coal miner invested two cents in a points pool. His investment returned him $120,000 today.

Informed of his bonanza, Davis clapped a hand to his head and blurted:

Europe Mystified By Byrnes' Resignation

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Europe's chancelleries believe today that something more than reasons of health prompted the resignation of James F. Byrnes as United States secretary of state at this time.

Diplomats who attended the United Nations general assembly meeting in New York returned to Europe last month with the definite impression that Byrnes intended to go to Moscow for the Big Four foreign ministers council meeting in March.

They recall that he informed Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov he would be willing to make another trip to Moscow if there were reasonable hopes of reaching agreement on the future of Germany.

Comes As Surprise

Therefore the news of his sudden resignation came as a great surprise, causing a shock which is giving way to curiosity over the reasons for it.

The view prevailed in French government circles that Byrnes' action might have been prompted by domestic political considerations.

The French Press agency, reflecting the views of the French Foreign Ministry, said:

One is inclined to believe that the (Continued on Page Two)

Railroad Pier Burns At Weehawken, N. J.

(BULLETIN)

WEHAWKEN, N. J., Jan. 8.—(INS)—Tons upon tons of general cargo consigned for overseas export were destroyed today in a general alarm fire that burned one New York Central Railroad pier in Weehawken to the water's edge and virtually razed a second one.

Firemen from Weehawken, West New York and surrounding communities as well as river craft fought the blaze for more than three hours before it was brought under control along the Weehawken waterfront.

There was no immediate estimate of damage but fire department officials said it would be considerable.

The fire broke out at 6 a. m. EST. on the south side of Pier 4 and spread rapidly to the adjacent Pier 3. By 9 o'clock, Pier 3 had been razed to the water's edge while Pier 4 still was burning but was believed under control.

Holy Name Men In Winter Rally

Address Given To Capacity Audience By Attorney William J. Reiss, Tuesday

CATHOLIC ACTION PLANS DISCUSSED

Members of the Holy Name society of St. Mary's church filled the Catholic center to capacity Tuesday evening, the assembly convening for the annual winter rally.

Rev. Francis P. King, spiritual director, led the men in the Holy Name pledge and Vincent Wadlinger, vice-president, led in the salute to the flag.

Attorney William J. Reiss, Pittsburgh diocesan president of Holy Name society, principal speaker of the evening was introduced, and in an interesting manner he outlined the diocesan plan for the district chapters of the society. He told the members that they are lay apostles, having the obligation to teach all with whom they come in contact.

"Start with yourselves," Attorney Reiss said, "make yourself perfect as Christ commanded you. Then others seeing the happiness of your life will be led closer to Christ by your example. You will improve yourselves and gain strength to (Continued on Page Two)

Surprise Move In Pittsburgh Beer War

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—(INS)—In a surprise move in the Pittsburgh beer war, the AFL teamsters union today was notifying 22 western Pennsylvania breweries that they wanted to sit down and negotiate labor contracts.

The brewers have contracts with the CIO United Brewery Workers union, which is the basis for the 92-day-old, frequently-violent jurisdictional union fight.

NEW HOME BURNS

COROAOPOLIS, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—An investigation was being conducted today into the cause of a fire which yesterday destroyed a newly-built $50,000 home in nearby Moon township.

Police reported that the home, completed last March, was completely destroyed, but a barn and 30 head of prize cattle were saved.

The home was owned by Robert Matlack, an official of Trans Oil company of Coraopolis who was visiting Philadelphia with his family at the time of the fire.

THREE OF QUADS DIE

BRIDGEND, Wales, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Doctors at Mid-Glamorgan County hospital worked today to save the day-old baby of Mrs. Peggy Thomas, sole survivor of quadruplets.

The infant was kept in an incubator and fed sterilized glucose. The quads were born early yesterday to the 29-year-old wife of a Welsh house painter. Three died last night.

Byrnes-Marshall Cabinet Change Comes Suddenly

Secretary Of State Byrnes Resigns—Gen. Marshall Named Successor

BYRNES ASSIGNS HEALTH AS CAUSE (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—President Truman acted with speed today in sending the nomination of Gen. George C. Marshall to the senate for confirmation as secretary of state to succeed James F. Byrnes.

The nomination was sent to Capitol Hill this morning as soon as possible after the surprise announcement last night that Byrnes was resigning because of ill health and Gen. Marshall had been chosen as his successor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—(INS)—The senate today unanimously named Gen. George C. Marshall as Secretary of State, acting swiftly and dramatically to assure the world of continued unity in the nation's bi-partisan foreign policy.

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The nation appeared stunned today after President Truman accepted the resignation of James F. Byrnes and appointed Gen. George C. Marshall as secretary of state.

The sequence of events caught the country completely by surprise. It caused speculation and concern in all the foreign offices of the world.

Byrnes disclosed that he had first resigned last April 16 and had resigned his resignation on last Dec. 19. He told the president that physicians advised him to "slow down" and added: "I cannot slow down as long as I hold public office, particularly the office of secretary of state."

Announced Last Night

Byrnes' resignation was announced by the White House last night following a day which seemed to belie all reports that he was in ill health or likely to quit his high office.

The resignation of Byrnes confused the world as to the course of future American foreign policy.

Top administration sources said there would be no change in U. S. foreign affairs. Some authorities said that the appointment of Marshall would mean a strengthening of the American attitude toward Russia, policy which seeks to dominate western European nations.

Marshall Strong Man

The naming of Marshall places a great, strong character in charge of American relations with Russia in the coming negotiations in Moscow of final peace treaties with Germany and Austria. Moscow knows Marshall as a great soldier and all the Russians have tremendous respect for successful military leaders.

Marshall has been on a special presidential mission in China for almost a year trying to establish peace between the communist and nationalist factions.

The White House announced Monday night that he had been recalled for consultation on the situation in China.

Enroute From Nanking

Marshall was enroute to Washington from Nanking when his appointment was announced. He planned to stop off in Hawaii several days before coming to the capital.

News of Byrnes' resignation came stunningly to Washington. There had been old rumors that Byrnes (Continued on Page Two)

London Newspapers Story On Conditions

Deserted British War Brides And Children Being Taken Care Of In New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(INS)—British war brides, deserted by their American husbands in New York, indignantly denied today reports published in London that they are living in squalor and poverty.

"It is a shame that such an exaggerated story should get about," declared one such bride, 27-year-old Mrs. Katherine Wood, mother of two children.

The London Daily Mail has reported that hundreds of "brides of despair" have been abandoned by their ex-GI husbands.

The Red Cross said that of 42,000 British war brides only 27 have been stranded in New York.

Mrs. Wood was quick to praise the Red Cross. She said it paid for her $5-a-day hotel room and gave her $37 a week for other expenses. Her husband is in Detroit.

Another wife, also with two children, said the Red Cross had been "wonderful." As for the "hundreds" of brides reported deserted by the Daily Mail, the Red Cross said if they were in New York "we certainly don't know where they are hiding."

Claims Hirohito Knew All About Flier Executions

Show At War Trials That Emperor Of Japan Commuted Sentence Of Five

TOKYO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—The War Crimes Tribunal was told today that Emperor Hirohito was well aware of the pending executions of American fliers shot down in Japan after accompanying General Doolittle's famous raid on Tokyo.

Prosecutors submitted to the tribunal statements taken from chief defendant at the international war crimes trial—former Premier Hideki Tojo.

Tojo told Allied questioners that the emperor "not only was aware of the Doolittle fliers were going to be executed, but commuted the sentences of five of them." Tojo's statement added:

"It was decided that only three of the Doolittle fliers who had killed primary school students would receive death penalties."

"It was discussed with the emperor, since the emperor in Japan is the only one who can commute death sentences."

Tojo said to the best of his recollection a Shanghai court martial had sentenced eight Doolittle airmen to die in October, 1942.

at once to extend rent controls beyond June. A large increase in rents would substantially reduce consumer purchasing power."

The chief executive again reiterated the prime necessity of settling labor disputes without further crippling strikes.

Mr. Truman said:

"It is important . . . to emphasize once more, in relation to our goal of a permanent high-production, high employment economy, the key responsibility that both management and labor have in helping to achieve this goal."

"Sound collective bargaining is essential."

"In order to build an enduring prosperity for ourselves and our children, we must and we shall solve the problem of making necessary adjustments in wages and working conditions without round about round of crippling and futile hays in production."

Revise Security System

Mr. Truman formulated a six-point long-range program for study and legislation action by congress to keep the nation's wheels turning at capacity with the aim of a continued high plane of prosperity.

The president asked congress to "take immediate steps" to revise benefit payments under the social security system. He said that beneficiaries under the old and survivors insurance system also should be adjusted. He said:

"These measures are necessary to alleviate real hardship which has been aggravated by increases in the cost of living."

The president spoke also of the need for starting more than a million additional housing units this year.

He said that the cost of housing construction must be reduced. To achieve this, the president said "we must start as promptly as possible a long-range housing program."

He asked congress promptly to approve "non-partisan housing legislation" that was introduced in the 79th congress and which passed the senate by a large majority.

PITTSBURGH Jan. 8.—(INS)—County detectives reported that bandits smashed a safe in the office of the Williams Lumber Company in nearby Pleasant Hills early today and escaped with $1,000.

Deaths Of The Day

William J. Snyder

William J. Snyder, aged 64 years, of 314 Sycamore street, died in the New Castle hospital this morning at 7:45 o'clock, following a short illness of complications.

Mr. Snyder was born in Butler county September 21, 1882, son of Henry and Agnes Snyder. The deceased was a fireman at the New Castle hospital, and had been married for 44 years to Mrs. Jennie Morrow Snyder. He was a member of the Savannah Methodist church.

In addition to his wife he leaves the following children: Elta, Clyde, Helen and Dorothy at home; Mrs. Olive Rispoli, Mrs. Marie Park, Mrs. Nora Ippolito, Melvin Snyder and Walter Snyder; a brother, Clyde Snyder, this city; and mother, Mrs. Agnes Snyder of Pittsburgh, and 15 grandchildren.

A son, William, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be Friday at 2:30 p. m. from the residence. The body will be taken to the residence from the John R. Bigler funeral home this afternoon. Interment will be in Savannah cemetery.

Mrs. Clara Findley

Mrs. Clara Findley, aged 72 years, widow of Benjamin Findley, New Wilmington, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, Tuesday at noon, from a heart condition.

She was born in Vienna, O., November 13, 1874, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolton. She resided in New Wilmington for the past three years, and was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Surviving are her children, John, of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Louis Forconi and Mrs. Charles Sewell; and sister, Mrs. Laura Burdette, of Greenfield, Pa., and brother, Winfield, of New Wilmington, and six grandchildren.

BYRNES-MARSHALL CABINET CHANGE COMES SUDDENLY

might quit because of ill health but it was assumed that the wiry South Carolinian would remain in office until after the German and Austrian peace treaties had been drafted in Moscow.

Byrnes' behavior failed to indicate that he was in ill health. He came to his office early yesterday. He conferred with a number of diplomats and state department specialists. In mid-afternoon, he held a press conference. There he stated specifically that Marshall, named his successor three hours later, might return to China or remain in the United States.

Some Speculation

There was some speculation that a disagreement had occurred between the president and Byrnes before the latter's press conference and the White House announcement of his resignation. There was no evidence to support this belief.

It seemed apparent that the move had been in the making for some time. Marshall evidently had been apprised of the possibility that he might be secretary of state prior to his recall from China.

Early Tuesday the state department released a statement from Marshall denouncing the extremists on both sides for the failure of his mission. Some observers believed then that Marshall would never return to his post. The White House statement of Byrnes' resignation confirmed them.

But the sudden shift aroused consternation in political and diplomatic circles.

Capitol Hill Surprised

Capitol Hill was struck with surprise. All members queried paid high tribute to Byrnes' ability as a public servant.

Senator Vandenberg (R) Mich., who became chairman of the foreign relations committee in the Republican congress and who has been Byrnes' advisor on major foreign policy matters, said:

"I deeply regret the resignation of Secretary Byrnes. He has been an able, courageous, effective secretary in the finest American tradition. He has been a staunch defender of American ideals when they needed defense in this critical period. He has made a tremendous contribution to peace. His departure is a major loss."

Had Understanding

Washington, Jan. 8.—The White House disclosed today that President Truman had a "general understanding" with Gen. George C. Marshall for several months that he would become secretary of state when James F. Byrnes resigned.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said that Mr. Truman and Marshall reached this agreement after Secretary Byrnes told the president that he must resign as soon as possible because of the state of his health.

It was also disclosed that Mr. Truman discussed the matter of a successor with Byrnes and that the secretary agreed heartily on the selection of the war-time chief of staff for the cabinet post.

The original plan was for the announcement to be made by the president, with Secretary Byrnes and Gen. Marshall beside him, at a presidential news conference Friday.

It is the day on which Mr. Byrnes had originally suggested that the president make his resignation official.

However, hints of the impending announcement began to "leak" yesterday. One of these leaks was that Gen. Marshall definitely would not return to China and that he would be given a new top drawer assignment on his return to Washington.

Secretary Byrnes hurried over to the White House shortly before 6 o'clock last night to tell Mr. Truman that he had learned that the news was beginning to leak prematurely.

The president and the secretary

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Truman's Message Largely Academic

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—In preparing his message on the State of the Union, President Truman recognized that he was in a spot. He would face a Congress that was indifferent, if not hostile; a Republican Congress looking to final victory in 1948.

There were two choices. He could write a spirited, fighting message reaffirming the objectives of his predecessor. Or he could make the best of a difficult situation in words of caution and compromise.

Given the president's temperament and background, the latter choice was inevitable. His speech before Congress had a curiously dry, academic sound. He was saying to the powerful opposition in the legislative branch of the government, "I'll be good if you'll be good." Behind the earnest, uninspired phraseology was a wistful hope.

Recommendations Doomed

The speech was academic because his recommendations are doomed to be ignored. The most detailed section of the message dealt with recommendations for improving collective bargaining and for bettering the relationships between management and labor. One recommendation was for a commission, to be named jointly by Congress and the president, which would study these problems and, not later than March 15, suggest steps to be taken.

But Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the man who will really run the Senate during the coming year, has already made his labor recommendations through a small policy group that includes Sen. Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey. After brief hearings, a stiffer version of the Case Bill will be passed and sent to the White House. When that happens, the president will have a really difficult decision to make.

The president's recommendations for social and economic legislation were phrased in general terms. He is for vigorous enforcement of the Anti-Trust Laws. He is for broadening the immigration laws to admit more homeless and displaced persons from Europe. He is for a bill providing adequate medical care to all who need it, not as charity but on the basis of payments made by the beneficiaries of the program.

Differ on Policy

Where he comes nearest to colliding with the Republicans is in the two paragraphs of fiscal policy. While he does not put it in so many words, the president makes it plain he is against any tax cuts. He goes further and wisely urges that the wartime excise taxes due to expire June 30 be continued through the coming fiscal year.

The latest section of the message deals with housing. The president talks about an "aggressive" program as though he himself had not controlled the controls that might have made low-cost veterans' housing possible.

In reality, the situation President Truman faced a year ago and the situation he faces now are not so different.

A year ago, he delivered a long message, wrapping up the budget, and the State of the Union in one package. In that message of January, 1946, he made 21 recommendations for specific legislation. As he was careful to point out, most of those same recommendations had been made before.

Few Successes

Now look back at the record of the year just ended. With minor piecemeal exceptions, only two of the president's recommendations were put into law. One was the Full-Employment Bill, which was enacted in a watered down form. The other was the law providing civilian control for atomic energy.

This had tremendous backing in public opinion. It was passed finally, thanks to the zeal of Senators McMahon, Vandenberg and Milliken, and Rep. Thompson of Texas.

In the light of this record, with supposedly Democratic majorities in both houses, what happened on November 5 was seen to be merely a confirmation of a condition that already existed. The Republican victory ended a truce and a deception.

We can see now very clearly that the responsibility in the next two years will be a Republican responsibility. In the words of the prayer book for those things left undone and for those things that ought not to have been done, blame will rest on the GOP. Likewise the credit for constructive steps will go to the party in power in the legislature.

We have a Republican government. That is the real meaning of the president's message. That is the State of the Union today, and it may be that history will show that Mr. Truman was right to recognize the reality.

Discuss Memorial In U. S. To Churchill

A CORRESPONDENT writes to ask why the move of British citizens, through voluntary subscription, to erect over there a statue to the memory of the late President Roosevelt should not awaken a response among citizens of this country for similar action in respect to Mr. Winston Churchill.

IS IT, he asks, because Mr. Roosevelt is dead and Mr. Churchill is not dead? That is not a very good reason but it is difficult, if not impossible to think of any other. None of the usual reasons for waiting until Mr. Churchill's death (which most persons hope will be many years hence) to erect a memorial to him seem sound. The ones that are sometimes cited against memorials to the living appear slightly foolish when applied to him.

THEY are first, that between the time the memorial is erected and the hero actually dies, he may behave in such a way as to make a memorial inappropriate; second, that a memorial to a living man unpleasantly implies that his life is really over and only the grave awaits him; third, that man's true worth cannot be measured until after his death. Not one of the three stands up so far as Mr. Churchill is concerned. Certainly, few will contend that anything he might do from now on would diminish the immeasurable debt of gratitude which this country, along with all the other civilized nations of the world, owe this great man: that the years remaining to him could in any degree render his words and deeds, already graven on the minds of millions, any less thrilling; that a memorial to him could ever become undesirable.

AS FOR the idea that a monument to the living carries an unkind implication of virtual death and is therefore inappropriate, no one who knows Mr. Churchill will suggest that he would take so silly a view. Actually, this tradition—if it is such—not memorializing the living seems confined to very few countries and ages. In ancient days monuments and statues were erected to many of the Roman emperors while they still reigned. In later years, self-erected monuments to Mussolini and the King abounded in Italy. Today, there are so many statues of Stalin in Russia that no one knows the exact number.

FOR that matter, plenty of private and public citizens in this country have had bronze busts made of themselves or presented by admirers. And, after all, what is the real difference between a marble or bronze statue and an oil portrait? And why, a public response to a great man while he lives and still can appreciate it, seems to be a finer tribute than any that might be erected after his death. It would appear far more spontaneous and genuine coming from the contemporary generation that knew and lived with him than from following generations who never knew him as an individual, never had the thrill of listening to his voice or knew the fascination of his personality.

A SHORT time ago a gentleman from Cape Cod, Mass., suggested to the fourteen Englishmen who were that they put up atop the Dover Cliffs a monument to Mr. Churchill on a sixty-foot tower flanked at the base by four bronze bulldogs each fourteen feet high. The inscription suggested was "Never has so much been owed by so many to one man." The $100,000 needed, it was said, could be raised in the United States. This seems a rather adequate nor even a proper proposal to come from this side. It is not one of which Americans can be very proud. After the English, taking the initiative, have moved without American aid, to establish a grateful memorial on their soil to the American war President, it seems a piece of effrontery for us, in effect, to say to the English: "Go ahead now, put up a great monument to your own great leader, costing about $100,000, and we will pay for it."

THERE is something unhandsome in the suggestion and in the way it is made. What has become of the English Speaking Union in this country? Why have not its members seized this opportunity to cement and strengthen relations between the English-speaking peoples by erecting in the United States a really great memorial to Winston Churchill? What are they waiting for? Can anyone think of any easier task than that of raising money, through voluntary subscriptions, for this purpose?

THEY are literally thousands of persons who would esteem it a privilege to subscribe to a monument now while he lives to the man who in that blackest hour of history when "England stood alone" and the fate of civilization hung in the balance stirred their souls with those imperishable words: "We shall go on to the end. We shall fight in France, on the seas and oceans. We shall defend our island whatever the cost may be. We shall fight on the beaches and the landing grounds. We shall fight on the streets and in the hills. We shall never surrender. And even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this island or a large part of it were subjected and starving, then our empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British fleet, will carry on the struggle until in God's good time the new world with all its power and might sets forth to the liberation and rescue of the old."

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

A strong new American bid for full Soviet cooperation in the rebuilding of Europe on peaceful lines was seen today in the wake of Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay's appointment as occupational governor.

In succeeding Gen. Joseph T. McNamery, Clay has been saddled with one of the toughest jobs in the world. Hardly more fortunate in a new assignment is Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, who will take over from Gen. Mark W. Clark in Vienna.

Both Clay and Keyes will have the task of knitting together the tattered fringes of four-power occupational policies without laying themselves open to charges either of "appeasement" or undue harshness.

Statesman-Soldier

Clay, long known as a statesman-soldier upon whom McNamery admittedly leaned both heavily and constantly, steps into the blinding light of world publicity at a most crucial moment in the post-war era. He was given his job right on the heels of President Truman's message on the state of the nation.

The World and the Mud Puddles

LOOK AT PITTSBURGH

Pennsylvania is a state of workers, the majority of whom belong to Labor Unions. But it is not improbable that a large number of these members of organized Labor then have come to the conclusion that some legislation is needed to prevent damaging strikes in public utilities. The recent experience of Pittsburgh at least should suggest some action along this line. The strike in that city of thirty-five hundred power company employees virtually paralyzed industry and business and brought distress and inconvenience to a community of some two million people. Refusal of these thirty-five hundred workers to function brought enforced idleness to an estimated one hundred thousand workers, with payroll losses figured at about fifteen million dollars daily.

Pittsburgh's industries and business firms no doubt were able to bear their losses. The real victims were the power-tie-up were the fellow Unionists whose pay was cut off through no fault of their own.

Common sense as well as common justice, cannot tolerate a continuance of conditions under which a mere handful of strikers wield such arbitrary and destructive power over entire communities. Intelligent Union workers cannot fail to see the urgent need for some remedy.

NO BUSINESS MAN

They told me business is business, and clever a man must be. To buy and to sell at a profit. But something is wrong with me. For the ways of the market fright me; too eager am I to buy. And the seller's side of the counter I've never had wish to try.

I never could haggle and dicker, as business so often requires. I haven't the knack of the salesman; my patience too suddenly tires. I buy at the first price mentioned; then flee from the crowded store. Glad to possess what I needed and be out in the air once more.

I envy the buyers and sellers their skill in the marts of trade. For buying and selling must follow as soon as the things are made. But I never could balance a ledger or follow a chart or a plan; And I am the son of a father who had hoped for a business man.

Retain Some Luxury Taxes

One of the promises made by the new Republican Congress is to cut taxes, among them income taxes by twenty per cent. President Truman beat the Republicans to some tax reductions when he declared the hostilities of World War Two were over and thus automatically ended certain special taxes on June 30 of this year, unless they are retested.

Cutting taxes is a fine thing of course, and one of the best vote getters we can think of. The stock promise of candidates for office (before they know the score) is to promise to reduce taxes.

The Republican plan to reduce income taxes by twenty per cent may have more merit than appears on the surface. The theory of Representative Knutson of Minnesota that it will be a fillip to business and thus increase income taxes in the long run may be valid.

But there are some taxes which in our opinion should not be lowered. For example the tax on whisky. The present tax of $9 per gallon will expire automatically June 30 unless it is revived. We can see no reason for a cut in whisky taxes.

Nor is this to be taken as a diatribe against the whisky business nor a plea for prohibition. We are looking at it from a dollar and cents standpoint. Whisky is a luxury and we can think of few things that are as much a luxury. There may be a need for a small amount of medicinal purposes but this need is infinitesimal.

The figures show that considerable whisky is drunk in the United States every year. Being the super luxury it is, we can find no reason in logic for any reduction in taxes. When repeal was sought it was pointed out that it would put a huge amount of tax money into the treasury of the United States and of the various states permitting its sale.

Well of course it does. And why not? Taxes should be heaviest upon those things we can best do without. This goes for many other luxuries as well as whisky.

With a national debt of some two hundred seventy-nine billion dollars (we may be a mere billion or so off) this is hardly the time to talk of reducing taxes.

Now if somebody comes up with a plan to reduce governmental expenditures for what appears to be unnecessary governmental functions we can add a loud Methodist amen to that proposal. That would be one way of reducing taxes and might get us back somewhat closer to the theory of Thomas Jefferson that "they who are least governed are best governed."

But reduce the tax on whisky? Fill 'em up again Charley.

The Helping Hand Of America

Responsibilities that came to the United States as a result of victory in the war are not fully known to the American people. The history-making events that are taking place in Europe and the Far East naturally reach the headlines—but many another important job is being accomplished in obscurity.

An example of this is found in the Pacific Islands. The Marshall group, which is typical, belonged to Germany until 1914. Then Japan, as one of our Allies in World War I, seized the islands, and her authority was legalized by a League of Nations mandate in 1922. Japan held the islands, using many of them as naval and air bases, until we freed them near the close of World War II.

Thus, purely as a consequence of war, the problems of thousands of natives living on scores of islands became our problems. And it is pleasant to report that the United States Navy, which is the administrative agency, is taking these problems very seriously.

The Navy is training officers in the arts of military government. It is making aggressive efforts to reestablish a system of adequate education. It is paying particular attention to health and sanitation. It is attempting to revitalize what little industry and commerce the islands are capable of maintaining. Its purpose, in sum, is to assist the inhabitants to stand on their own feet.

This is no simple task. An immense amount of work is being done by the Navy. Thus, the hand of America reaches out to tiny islands whose very names are unknown to all but a few persons.

No-Man's Land

As a central group of the Navy's Antarctic task force moves cautiously through the fringe of icebergs which forms the outer bastion of the land of the midnight sun, the American State department has opened a coordinating diplomatic front. The United States reasserts its policy of not recognizing any claims of other nations in the area and not making any claims for itself, although "reserving all rights it may have" in the South Polar region.

This may or may not be a jolt to the British, who long have claimed sovereignty in the Ross Sea "dependency"; to the Russians, who have set out for the Antarctic with a flotilla of ten "whaling vessels"; to New Zealand, Chile and Argentina, who have been talking of dispatching expeditions to "protect" their previously asserted "rights" to slices of the ice continent; or to France and Norway, who also lay claim to segments.

A London assertion that British "dependencies" in the Antarctic are "permanently occupied" is based, apparently, on an almost continuous series of expeditions, the latest of which is a group of scientists on its way to Marguerite Bay. Americans, including Admiral Byrd, have made extensive stays in the same general area claimed by the British, and also in other parts of the 5,000,000 square-mile continent. But for the present (or possibly until American scientists can determine whether and where uranium exists) the United States prefers that it all remain a no-man's land.

Here's First Aid To Carrying Out Book Readers Resolution

As one whose primary resolution for 1947 was to read more books, and something besides mysteries and detective stories, we have drawn up a list of "musts" for a starter to new to the line of this pleasant resolve. So we now go on record before the "frost is on the pumpkin" of our per 1947 resolution.

Among non-fiction: "Brandeis: A Free Man's Life" by Moore; "Where Are We Heading?" by Willes; "Small Towns" by Hicks; "There Will Be No Time" by Borden; "Peace of Mind" by Lieberman; "Balance" by Zwing; "Geography for Grown-Ups" by Calahan; "The Happy Profession" by Sedgwick; "Economics in One Lesson" by H. S. Smithey; "Happy the Land" by Rich; "Raffles of Singapore" by Hahn; "The Roosevelt I Knew" by Perkins; and "In a Changing Brazil" by Caldwell.

For non-fiction in a lighter vein: "Mr. Brandeis Builds His Dream House" by Hodgins; "A Long Way from Boston" by O'Shea; "Out on a Limb" by Baker; and "There's Plenty of Room at the Top" by Brown.

Among the anthologies: "I Wish I'd Written That" edited by Eugene J. Woods; "The Weekend Book of Travel" edited by Robert Gilman; "A Little Treasury of Modern Poetry" edited by Oscar Williams; "The Hard-Boiled Omnibus"; and "To the Queen's Taste."

Short Fiction List

The fiction list is short: "B. F.'s Daughter" by Marquand; "The Miracle of the Bell" by Janney; "East River" by Asch; "The Kingdom of the Rocks" by Eusepy; "Green Grass of Wyoming" by O'Hara; "A Collection of Women" by Rich.

Mystery Books

Among the mysteries we will catch up on a few that are considered among the best of 1946: "Barren Heritage" by Davis; "The Fifth Man" by Coles; "Five Passengers from Lisbon" by Lieberman; "The Ingenious Mr. Stone" by Player; "Let's Kill George" by Cores; "My Late Wives" by "The Unsuspected" by Armstrong; "What Happened at Hazelwood" by Innes; and "The Widow Makers" by Bunker.

Special Interest Books

There are a number of special interest books that should prove worth perusing for those interested in the particular subject, such as "The Record Book" by Hall; "Patterns from Nature" with photos by Horat; U. S. Camera 1947; "The Preparation and Use of Visual Aids" by Haas and Packard; "Thoughts for Food" by Houghton Mifflin publication; "Flowers" with text by Princess Bibesco; "The Folk Arts of Pennsylvania" by Lichten; "A Primer of Book Collecting" by Winterich; "Van Gogh" by Jewell; "Twilight of Painting" by Gammel; "Artists' Manual for Silk Screen Print Making"; "5000 Years of Art" by Leitchman; "Of Course You Can Draw" by Kruckmann; "Tempera Paintings" by Spegel.

Cook Books

Fun to read and full of ideas, though not for the "meat and potato" school of cookery devotees, are Mary Lasswell's "Mrs. Rasmussen's Book of One-Arm Cook-

Books on Art

"Contemporary American Paintings" with reproductions in color of the Encyclopedia Britannica collection of paintings of contemporary American artists, is a must for anyone interested in American art. And if you are inspired to become a second Grandma Moses at something less than the age of 75, don't miss "Get in There and Paint" or "Oil Painting for the Beginner" by Frederic Taubes.

Time on Fabrics

"America's Fabrics" by Bendure and Pfeiffer is a 688-page tome, profusely illustrated with photographs, written primarily for students of fabric manufacture or fabric merchandizing, but is full of interest, too, for anyone who can tell a piece of cavalry twill from whalecord or the seamstress who knows nainsook from batiste, or for anyone who doesn't know distinguishing characteristics of fabrics but would like to.

"Tomorrow's Trade" by Stuart Chase written for the Twentieth Century Fund one of a series, is a 'must' for anyone who likes to keep an eye on world trends.

Available At Library

The last six books mentioned above, and the majority of the others, are available at the New Castle public library upon inquiry if you, too, have resolved to read more widely in 1947.

Steel Wage Parley Starts January 16

U. S. Steel Corporation And C.I.O.—U.S.W. Negotiations Scheduled, Says Announcement

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—(INS)—United States Steel Corporation and the C.I.O.-United Steelworkers, acknowledged pace-setters for a national wage pattern, will open 1947 wage negotiations January 16 in Pittsburgh, according to a company announcement.

"Big steel" said Philip Murray, president of both the C.I.O. and the steelworkers, had requested the opening of wage talks one month before the existing contract expires.

Murray will head the union officials in discussion. Although the company did not announce who would be its spokesman, observers presumed he would be U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless.

Will Affect Thousands

The wage negotiations will directly affect near 700,000 employees of other steel companies.

No wage demand has been discussed by the union, but Murray has consistently called for a "substantial" pay boost without a corresponding increase in prices. One union official in Pittsburgh said he believed negotiations this year would be based on "ability to pay."

Formal union demands will be presented on Jan. 16, including the unspecified wage increase, partial cost-of-living pay, revised insurance plan and premium pay for Saturday, Sundays and holidays.

Negotiations will cover five U. S. Steel subsidiaries including Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., American Steel & Wire Co., National Tube Co., Columbia Steel Co., and the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co.

The union's 40-man executive committee will meet Thursday in Pittsburgh to discuss "strategy."

Dog Is Mascot Of Farm Exhibit

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—After 31 years, the Pennsylvania Farm Show has a mascot.

It is not a purebred pig, calf, goat, or fowl—just a common, but far from ordinary dog, the kind that farmers regard as "man's best friend."

"Spot" is mostly fox terrier and was bought for a dollar through a newspaper advertisement by the Farm Show maintenance crew in October, 1944. He knows so many tricks that provisional plans have been made for his first public appearance Wednesday night of Farm Show week before a crowd of 8,000 people in the large arena.

State Legislature Plans For Recess Until January 20

Will Await Message From New Governor Before Beginning Legislative Program

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—that Governor-elect James H. Duff's Assemblymen were confident today legislative program would set the pace for the 1947 session.

The house will convene today at 1:30 p. m. to accelerate work on a bill to reorganize the general assembly's personal system while the senate was in recess until 4 p. m. Thursday.

Although the program was expected to embody Duff's 1946 campaign pledges, he has declined to discuss his recommendations before presenting them to the general assembly.

Legislators hoped the next governor would not delay submitting his program following his inaugural January 21 because unparliamentary tardiness would stall the assembly's machinery.

Duff was expected to address assemblymen within a fortnight after he assumed the duties of chief executive.

Following the early morning meeting tomorrow, the lower chamber will recess until January 20 while the senate will suspend business until the same day after an early morning session Friday.

With New Castle Afro-Americans

There will be a meeting in Mahoning Avenue Mission this evening at 7:30 o'clock, when Rev. James Blackwell will speak.

South Side Mothers club will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. Mauldin, 931 1/2 Moravia street.

Friendship club will meet in the Elm Street Y. W. C. A. this evening at 8 o'clock. During the holiday season the club entertained their husbands and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benny McLauren, West Grant street. Bridge was the main feature. Mrs. Mattie McLauren, Miss Dorothy Fall and Mrs. Ruth Hill were in charge of the occasion.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

American Pilots In China Demand Safety Measures

Threaten To Cancel Contracts Unless Aeronautic Officials Tighten Rules

SHANGHAI, Jan. 8.—(INS)—American pilots reportedly moved today to demand cancellation of their contracts with Chinese airlines unless Chinese aeronautics officials insist on safety measures.

The reported move was underway as commercial plane service was suspended for a week. The planes were grounded as the aftermath of the recent disastrous series of four plane crashes which took a toll of 113 lives.

It was indicated the American pilots will tell Chinese authorities that unless they adopt a "safety first" policy they will demand not only cancellation of their contracts but transportation home plus other financial settlements.

Backed By Papers
Meantime, Chinese newspapers generally agreed that the American pilots were blameless in the air disasters.

The North China Daily News stated in an editorial on publication today that "there is no suggestion American pilots are inefficient—the question arises as to whether Chinese airlines' minimum standards involve counting risks."

The newspaper declared it was "inconceivable" airlines authorities were ignorant of bad weather conditions when planes were dispatched to Tsingtao last Sunday.

The latest plane, a C-47, crashed near Tsingtao. It was definitely established Tuesday that all 39 passengers and the crew of three were killed. The fatalities included three Americans, two Catholic sisters and three Chinese national assemblymen.

The crash was preceded by three others on Christmas day in the Shanghai area.

Foreign Help On State Farms Only Totals 51

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—The number of foreign workers on farms of Pennsylvania dropped to only 51 as of December 1, compared with 625 such workers at the end of August, according to Federal-State surveys reported by the State Department of Agriculture.

On December 1 there were 33 Jamaicans and 18 Newfoundlanders on farms of the State. Most foreign workers were brought in to assist in harvesting fruits and vegetables in the commercial production areas.

Approximately 200 veterans of World War II were placed on farms of the State during October 1946 as tenants or hired hands, the department said.

A grid team from Fort Lewis, Wash., once participated in a Pasadena Rose Bowl game. Known as Camp Lewis back in 1918, the post lost a 19-7 count to the Mare Island Marines.

Union Demands Result In Order To Close Plant

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—The United Refrigeration company on Tuesday ordered immediate closing of its plant in Connelville because CIO-United Steelworkers union demands which company officials asserted "cannot even be discussed."

The order followed a one-day strike over the company's selection of a superintendent. After returning to work, the union, the company said, demanded that the following be included in a new contract: Rest periods of 15 minutes each morning and afternoon, the same wage scale paid steelworkers in mills, bonus and pension plans and an insurance plan.

Harry Blakeman, vice president in charge of operations, said the parent office in Hudson Wis., ordered the plant closed immediately. One hundred and sixty employees are affected.

Unfinished contracts will be completed at the Hudson plant, Blakeman said.

Home Is Castle But Man's Name Is Not His Own

Brothers Seeking To Change Their Name Meet With Failure In State Court

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—(INS)—A man's home may be his castle, but his name can't rightfully be called his own.

That was the gist today of a Pennsylvania supreme court decision which declared that a man can not resist the use of his name. Chief Justice George W. Maxey of Scranton, handed down the ruling in favor of two brothers—Joseph N. and Benjamin R. Faluccci—who sought to change their name to something a bit less tongue-twisting.

The Falucccis had sought to have their name legally changed to "Frame"—but Attorney Thomas E. Frame, a lawyer, didn't think much of the idea.

The brothers contended they were encountering difficulties and embarrassment over the spelling and pronunciation of their names, but the real "Frame" argued that great confusion would result from the similarity of the names, particularly as the trio only live two blocks apart.

Ruled Justice Maxey: The name "Frame" isn't so unusual—it appears many times in the telephone directory. Also, the brothers were not in the same business as "Frame" and didn't associate socially with the same persons.

Things would be different, Justice Maxey said, if a doctor took the name of a renowned physician, or a struggling lawyer the name of a great attorney, or a hopeful actor assumed the name of a celebrated star.

"The family name of most of the men who have been president of the United States," the justice said, "have been shared by thousands of Americans in the lesser walks of life."

State Legislature Selects Officers

Lichtenwalter Is Elected As Speaker Of House At Harrisburg Session Tuesday

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Assemblymen cleared legislative decks of organizational duties Tuesday and paved the way for deliberation of the many knotty problems confronting them at the opening of the 137th session of the general assembly.

Republican domination of the house and senate made it easy for the party to override Democratic opposition when electing slated officers.

Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, of Lehigh, was elected speaker of the house succeeding Ira T. Fiss, of Snyder, by a strict party vote of 168-38. Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn, of Delaware, was named president pro tempore of the upper chamber during the absence of Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (R) Dauphin, slated to be re-elected president when he recovers from an illness.

Lichtenwalter was opposed by Rep. Harry P. O'Neill, of Lackawanna, dean of the house Democratic bloc, while Heyburn defeated Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent, of Westmoreland, by a vote of 33-16.

Slated officers of both houses were elected by Republicans without difficulty. Lichtenwalter, a 36-year-old fifth-term assemblyman, was one of the youngest legislators ever placed on the speaker's rostrum. He was majority leader during the 1943 and 1945 sessions.

Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R) Elk, succeeded Lichtenwalter in the majority post.

Farm Receipts May Set Record

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Cash receipts from Pennsylvania farm marketings during October 1946 were approximately $15,000,000 more than for the same month in 1945, the State Department of Agriculture announced following Federal-State surveys.

October receipts indicate the total for 1946 may establish an all-time record for Pennsylvania. There is possibility that net farm income may run ahead of last year although costs of farming also reached new record levels, the department pointed out.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Mother Dies In Fire; But Saves Babies

LANGHORNE, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—A 19-year-old old mother lost her life in a fire Tuesday but saved the lives of her two babies before dying.

The flames swept the home of Mrs. Ruth M. Bracelen in nearby Treve Heights. Firemen said an oil stove or heater exploded.

Mrs. Bracelen was trapped on the second floor of the house but saved her babies by dropping them from a window into the arms of neighbors.

Apparently she returned after dropping the children—aged 15 months and two months respectively—in an effort to save some valuables.

Firemen put a ladder to the second floor window but Mrs. Bracelen was dead by the time they carried her to the ground.

The first cooking stoves were marketed in the U. S. in the 1830's. They were wood-burning stoves with built-in ovens and a tank at the end for heating water.

EXTENSIONS OF CONTRACTS ARE BEING SOUGHT

C.I.O. United Steelworkers Seek Contract Extensions With Steel
Fabricating Plants

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—(INS)—The CIO-United Steelworkers union today was conducting a drive to get contracts extensions from nearly 1,400 steel fabricating companies until the union completes new wage agreements with basic producers.

The companies employ 450,000 USW members.

In line with CIO President Philip Murray's plan to settle with the basic steel producers first, hundreds of letters have been mailed to the fabricators requesting contract extensions, it was learned in Pittsburgh.

If agreed to, Murray's plan would extend contracts indefinitely past the February 15 expiration date and fabricators would agree to meet contract changes negotiated with basic steel.

The Steelworkers union will open negotiations with the U. S. Steel corporation in Pittsburgh January 16.

At the same time, it was learned that a "strategy" meeting by the Union's 40-man executive committee scheduled for Thursday in Pittsburgh has been cancelled.

Acquitted Woman To Face New Charge

MADISON, Ind., Jan. 8.—(INS)—Mrs. Lottie (Tot) Lockman, elderly practical nurse who was freed of a murder charge, today faced a charge of attempted murder.

Circuit Judge Harry Nichols yesterday dismissed the charge which accused Mrs. Lockman, 62, of the mercury poison slaying of Mrs. Minnie McConnell.

Mrs. McConnell was the mother of Forrest McConnell, a wealthy former employer of Mrs. Lockman. Mrs. Lockman's only comment on hearing the decision was:

Despite this ruling she will go on trial Jan. 27 on a charge of the attempted murder of Mrs. Mayme McConnell, Forrest McConnell's wife. The state charges poison was placed in eggs.

Meanwhile, authorities are awaiting a toxicologist's report on the bodies of five elderly residents of DuPont, near Madison, who died while under Mrs. Lockman's care.

NEWS LITERARY SOCIETY MEETS

Members of the News Literary Society gathered Tuesday evening in the home of Frank Bubnik, of the Hileman apartments.

A business meeting was conducted, and following an informal social hour was held.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

a good way for other members of the family to relieve the weary mother, by thus quieting the little child and making him happy.

Eagerness To Read

Moreover, the little child who is read to a great deal acquires an affection for a book and an eagerness to learn to read. When he does learn to read he hardly will be a mere word reader. He will read for meaning. When at school he reads from a text book or encyclopaedia he is unlikely to choose to copy words and sentences and to memorize them. Rather he inclines to digest the content and turn it into a few words and sentences of his own.

Telling stories has value, too. But when a child hears a story told, he associates it with the teller rather than a book. Few persons tell a story over and over in exactly the same words. The little child likes to hear the same words, phrases, and sentences repeatedly, which he enjoys when he hears a story read over and over again.

Though some parents can tell stories very well, even make them up out of their heads, most parents cannot or think they cannot. If all stories had to be told, relatively few children would hear any stories at home. But practically any adult or older child can read easy stories such as the child prefers.

Almost no young child needs to be coaxed listening to stories read to him. Good books for this purpose may be borrowed from the public library. Excellent ones can be bought for as little as a dime or quarter. Then most homes have a copy of the Bible so full of musical poetry and fascinating prose. A child does not need to be rich in order to be read to. He may live in the humblest cottage or most luxurious mansion, just so he has parents rich in understanding and appreciation of the likes and feelings of a little child.

What is Wealth?

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

Wealth is goods. It is food, shelter, clothing . . . hairpins and automobiles, mousetraps and refrigerators, railroad cars and pens that write under water.

And the thing that makes goods is work.

Only with work can we create wealth. A farm has no value until somebody grows and harvests the crop; nor does a forest until someone cuts the trees, a mine until someone brings out the coal.

Without work, money has no meaning: Even if we could suddenly double the number of dollars in every American pocket, we would not increase production by so much as a single shirt or steak. The real wealth of the nation would be unchanged. You can't eat money, or wear it.

But, when people are producing, money provides a convenient means of exchanging work for goods. Men receive it for their labor, and trade it for things made by the labor of others. The thrifty save part of their money—and thus store up part of their work for future use.

In America, we have learned how to use this stored-up work to create new wealth. Millions of thrifty people lump together their savings—their stored-up work—to start new industries, build new factories, buy better tools. By so doing, they increase the facilities for work . . . which steps up the production of goods . . . which means more wealth for the nation.

This productive use of stored-up work is known as investment. It is one of the wonders of our economy. But it has to start with work.

Market Place for the Thrifty

The New York Stock Exchange is the nation's principal market place for investors. It maintains a ready market, at openly disclosed prices, for the securities of millions of Americans who entrust their surplus funds to industry. To them it says this: Base your investment decisions on facts, not on rumors. Facts are your best protection against unnecessary risk.

Many Continue To Write '1946' In Dating Checks

After celebrating the coming of the New Year, a lot of people promptly forgot about the change and go right on dating their checks "1946", much to annoyance of bank clerks and tellers.

Not only are most people rather confused in January, but some of them never get it straight all year. Some people are perpetually a year behind time, and others just don't know what year it is—'02 or '50.

Of course, the situation is especially bad right now, says Miss Lila Henshaw, who is employed in one of the local banks. Sometimes she has to "okay" 80 or 90 incorrect-dated checks in one day.

Checks dated "46" this month are usually accepted and okayed by the bank without further ado, but later in the year they are sent straight back to their confused writers.

"Last year, people never got back to normal," says Miss Henshaw. "It was a comedy of errors from beginning to end. Somebody writes a check for 21 dollars and 49 cents, and carries the 49 over to the date, making it 1949. Sometimes I'd like to know what they're thinking of! Funny, isn't it? And even funnier is the fact that many of the people who read this and agree with Miss Henshaw—"what can they be thinking of?"—are going to write checks soon with the very same mistake—1946.

In fact, it just might be you.

During the course of the meetings colored slides of the work on the mission fields will be shown by the missionaries. The annual pledge offering for the work of foreign missions will be taken Sunday.

Good Taste By FRANCINE MARKEL

NEVER EMPHASIZE YOUR INFERIORITY

Quite by accident and entirely without eavesdropping, I last night, during a dance intermission, overheard an ardent man resorting to the worst possible technique is trying to gain the affections of an unwilling girl, with such pleadings and complaints as these:

"You don't like me, do you, Betty? I've known it from the beginning."

"You've been trying to evade me, haven't you, all evening?"

"Is it on account of Jack that you don't admire me? What has he that I haven't got?"

"Most girls like me, why don't you?"

"What can I do to make you like me?"

I could have answered those questions in these few words:

Suggest to her your superiority, not your inferiority. Don't declare your superiority, but make your words and deeds reflect it. Radiate superiority without bragging about your ancestors, your family background, the honors you've received in college or business.

Of course, there is a type of superficial girl, prompted by fortune-hunting mothers who may seem to be impressed by boasts about your family's financial status or possessions—their high-priced cars, yachts, mountain lodges and seaside cottages. But the normal girl will be impressed principally by your philosophy of life, by your self-possession while in the presence of your elders and superiors, by the saving sense of humor with which you can parry the malicious thrusts of those trying to ridicule or belittle you.

Even a girl who really likes you may be persuaded to dislike you if you constantly suggest to her that she does.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to question from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Dinner Tuesday For Rev. Robert Griswold

Much Progress Made At Trinity Church Under Leadership Of Rev. Griswold

Rector, wardens, and vestry of Trinity Episcopal church were guests of vestryman Francis S. Sowersby at a dinner Tuesday evening at the New Castle Country club. The dinner honored Rev. Robert M. C. Griswold, rector, who recently resigned to accept a call to St. Luke's and St. Matthew's Episcopal church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Following the dinner, the vestry met in regular session and reviewed work of the church during the past year in preparation for the annual parish meeting on Monday, January 20. Among many accomplishments it was gratifying to note that the church is entirely free of debt, two bequests were made, and four additional stained glass windows have been given as memorials and will be installed in the near future in the transepts and baptistry. Plans for a reception to Mr. Rev. Harold M. Sawyer, newly-elected bishop of Erie, who will attend the annual parish meeting on January 20, were arranged.

Mr. Griswold reviewed the program of the parish during the past five years and also outlined various activities and improvements that should be undertaken in the future. Preparations are already underway for the centennial celebration which will be held next year. The local parish was officially organized on April 24, 1848, by the election of the following vestrymen: John M. Crawford, Jonathan Ayers, L. L. McGuffin, G. A. Scroggs, J. Hamilton, Dr. A. Andrews, G. Sloan, J. H. Brown and P. Reynolds.

The present vestry who attended the dinner Tuesday consists of Lloyd W. Strayer, senior warden; Robert M. Garland, junior warden; L. J. Lewis, secretary; D. M. Arnold, treasurer; P. P. Butz, H. J. Culliford, V. S. Sowersby, E. G. Diefenderfer, and Robert H. Adams.

HOME FOR VISIT

T-5 Richard D. Copson has returned to Fort Belvoir, Va., after a week-end visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Copson, of 134 East Leasure avenue. He was accompanied by T-6 Joseph Evans, of Houston, Texas, who is also stationed at Fort Belvoir.

The area of Norway is a little larger than that of New Mexico.

League Members To Debate Labor Law, Taxation Problem

Debates and discussion on several matters slated for legislative action by congress and the state assembly in the legislative sessions just opened in Washington, D. C., and Harrisburg, will form the basis of the League of Women Voters' program to take place January 30 at 2 p. m. in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Marguerite D. White, Mrs. L. F. Kohn, Miss Margaret Brown, and Mrs. Alec Samuels will debate pro and con the provisions of the Wagner labor law, the question of whether income taxes should be lowered in the near future or not, and the means by which additional state revenue, if it is necessary, should be raised. In connection with the latter question there will be discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of a two per cent state sales tax or a state income tax.

Object of this first program of the new year for the league will be to try to clarify thinking on labor and tax problems, both of which will take a great amount of time in the current session of congress and also in the assembly.

Meetings of the league are open to the public.

Novel Gadgets To Delight Mom; Hit Pop's Money

Home Furnishings Exhibit In Chicago Shows Latest In Time-Saving Devices

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Some one of these days father is going to have an awful blow.

The gadgeteers have been busy. The results were on display today at the International Home Furnishings market, and the American Furniture Winter market.

They will give mom more holidays than a walking delegate can dream up, the gadgeteers claim.

She can spend practically all of her daytime hours at the bridge table, and if she has one of those tables that shuffles and deals the hands, she and the girls can get in some extra games.

There are, for instance, a number of makes of automatic washing machines.

Miracle Washer
All mom does is dump in the clothes, some soap flakes or powder, close the lid, set the dials, and she can go to town, literally.

When she gets home, the clothes have been washed, rinsed, dried, and the machine has rinsed and emptied itself.

Then she sits down at the new folding ironer, which does just what the name implies.

There is a new electric sink, which the manufacturer says will be on the market by next fall. You just dump in the China, glassware, silver and pots and pans, add the soap and push a button. The designer, Raymond Loewy, took over.

"Complete service for six is done in 10 minutes—washed, rinsed and dried. And at the same time another section of the sink is grinding up the garbage, and washing it down the drain."

Novel Toaster
There's the toaster that toasts and you leave the toast in, and it does not burn but just keeps warm. A clock that awakens you by turning on a selected radio program, and a clock that turns on a light, and if that doesn't wake you up, clangs a gong.

House cleaning is a pip, too. There's a bagless vacuum, that not only does what ordinary vacuums do, but washes and dries rugs and upholstered furniture, and air-conditions the room. Another vacuum cleans wall and ceilings, waxes the floors, cleans the Venetian blinds, and sprays paints or insecticides.

And they're all designed to give father a cleaning.

Await Green Light To Begin Removal Of Jap Reparations

TOKYO, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Industrial experts on General MacArthur's staff said Tuesday they would be able to begin removing Japanese factories for reparations within three months after a definite reparations policy is determined.

They said President Truman's plea for quicker action on reparations corresponds with the view of occupation authorities, but pointed out that the reparations program is stalled for want of policy decision.

Although at present not a single piece of Japanese machinery has been packed or definitely earmarked for reparations, officials said they were ready to begin moving industrial reparations soon after getting a go-ahead signal.

Some claimant nations were said to have made excessive demands on Japan. One official cited the Philippines for example, saying:

"They have asked for everything but the kitchen sink despite the fact that they haven't the engineers, the market or the economy to utilize it."

MacArthur's economic and scientific section is also revising all Japanese estimates on the costs of transporting industrial equipment to claimant nations, which must be paid by the Japanese government. Japanese estimates were described as "astronomical."

Thunderstorms generally develop wherever moist warm air rises in large quantities.

Ohio Soldier Claims He Saw Goering Suicide

CADIZ, O.—(INS)—A Cadiz soldier, Pfc. Harold F. Johnson, claims to be the only witness to the death of Herman Goering.

Johnson told of his experience in a letter to his parents following the Nazi leader's suicide. Johnson, a member of Co. C, 26th infantry, explained that he was assigned to guard Goering at Nuernberg.

"There was only one person in the whole wide world who saw him die," the letter stated, "and that was little me. I don't care what kind of tales they write up in the papers about it—I saw it. I know, for I was standing at his cell door looking in when he died."

Johnson enclosed an autograph given him by the Reichsmarschal. He instructed his parents to "hang on to it because it may be worth money some of these days."

The army private said it was also rumored he would receive a $1,500 ring which Goering was supposed to ask be given to his last guard. He commented:

"I don't know any more about that ring than what I hear in these rumors for I haven't as yet received any official notice about it. Be nice if I would."

OHIO FARMER HAS THRILLING PURSUIT BY SIX-POINT BUCK

STUEBENVILLE, O.—(INS)—Jefferson county is getting too wild to suit Leonard Skipper, Annapolis farmer.

Skipper says he was chased across a field on his farm by a six-point buck deer and saved his life by climbing a tree.

According to the 59-year-old farmer, the chase occurred about dusk one evening when Skipper surprised the deer on its crossing. The farmer says he managed to make the buck just a trifle hesitant by shouting and waving his arms.

Skipper climbed a small hickory tree. He recounts that the deer stalked around this refuge for several minutes, then walked away.

John Eliot's "Indian Bible," published in 1663, is believed to have been the first translation of the entire Bible in a new language as a means of evangelization.

Steubenville To Be Purged Of Vice

County Grand Jury Ordered To Probe, Clean Up Gambling,
Vice In Area

STUEBENVILLE, O., Jan. 8.—(INS)—The Jefferson county grand jury, which includes a leader of Steubenville's crusading Ministerial Association, was ordered Tuesday to investigate and clean up vice and gambling in the area.

For the first time in the county's history, two judges participated in the charging of the new grand jury. Common Pleas Judge Carl Weinman delivered the charge while Judge Arthur L. Hooper shared the bench with him.

Reads Charge
Judge Weinman declared in his 12-page charge:

"The court desires to request that you investigate conditions in Steubenville and Jefferson county, including all forms of gambling, slot machines, policy and so forth, and to return indictments in every case where violations are discovered."

"The court directs you to inquire into the conduct of public officials and determine if any public official has violated any criminal laws of Ohio."

The judge also ordered the jury of ten men and five women "not to whitewash or protect anyone."

Foreman of the jury is W. J. Hukill, businessman in nearby Brilliant. One of the members is Rev. Robert K. Russell, president of the Ministerial Association which sought permission to arm its members and clean up vice and gambling personally.

Rev. Fr. Paul Richter, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic church, was summoned for jury duty but declined to serve.

Pomona Grange To Have Sessions

North Beaver Grange Will Be Host
To Lawrence County Grangers
On Saturday

Lawrence County Pomona grange will open the year of 1947 with an all day assembly in Moravia Presbyterian church, New Castle-Warrenton road, Saturday, January 11, when North Beaver grange will be host for the day. Pomona Master W. H. McCullough will preside at the meeting which opens in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. Reports and business will occupy that period, followed by luncheon, served by women of the host grange at noon.

A timely debate on the subject "Should Labor Be Given an Active Part in the Management of Industry?" will feature the afternoon session at 1:30 o'clock. This will be given by Westminster college's debate team, directed by M. R. Moorehouse. Later Mrs. Norman Hunt and Mrs. Francis Book of Willard grange, will offer an humorous skit.

Worthy Master McCullough who recently attended a regional deputy meeting in Altoona will talk on "Pomona Grange Aims for the New Year." This will be of great importance to Lawrence county grangers, and a large attendance is expected for the day.

Lions See Film On Steel Tuesday Noon

Interesting Picture Shows Various Processes In Manufacture Of Steel, Man's Servant

New Castle Lions club members saw the interesting picture, "Steel, Man's Servant", at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton Tuesday noon.

The picture showed the interesting processes through which various kinds of steel go into the making of steel rails, girders, seamless tubing, wire and other products. First came the pig iron and scrap steel, which go through the open hearth furnaces, electric furnaces and Bessemer converters. Next were shown the shaping and processing of the slabs and billets into sheet steel, shapes, rails, car wheels, etc.

The film was interesting because of the many uses to which steel is put.

M. W. Elder, new manager of the Goodrich store, who came here recently from Van Wert, O., was admitted as a new member.

Preparing For County Budget

Federal Government Gets $15,064.45 Stamp Taxes In Recorder's Office In 1946

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Working sheets on the financial statement for the county for 1946 have been completed by County Controller Andrew M. Dodds and are now being written in final form. Before they are ready for the court's signature it will be necessary to check them for accuracy, but it is expected that in about two weeks the statement will be ready for publication.

Before the budget can be prepared, the financial statement must be completed, although preliminary work upon the budget is being done now.

As of January 1, 1946, the general fund of the county had a balance of $216,280.71 on hand, and to this was added receipts of $437,396.04, making a total receipt for the year of $653,676.75. The expenditures for 1946 were $404,176.79, leaving a balance on hand January 7, 1947, of $249,499.96. This money must last until taxes begin coming in, which will be near July 1. At the average rate of monthly expenditures of $35,000, the county will spend about $210,000 of the balance on hand.

Expenditures show an increase every year. In 1945 there was an expenditure of $352,318.92, and at the beginning of 1946 there was a cash balance of $164,463.81 on hand.

There are a number of rather large expenditures which must come out of the 1947 budget. There is a bill of $10,350 for the water line at the county home. On every $715.75 and a plumbing bill of $2,455, all for the county home. The painting in the court house which has just started will cost $2,841. The electric clock for the bell tower on the court house will cost $2,185.27 and a system of cross index cards for the chief assessor's office will cost $938.25. These are all committed.

Improvements of the court rooms and of the office of register and recorder are planned, and these will cost considerable.

FEDERAL TAXES
Without much fuss the Federal government takes a nice piece of money out of Lawrence county every year in the way of documentary stamps for deeds. On every deed for property sold there must be a tax stamp of 1.10 for every $1,000 of the purchase price, of 55 cents for every $500 or portion thereof. In 1946 the tax stamps on deeds in the county amounted to $15,064.45.

The tax is one of the easiest collected and one that costs least in collection costs. The government has the stamps on sale at the post office, the register and recorder buys them in sheets and sells them to persons involved in the realty deal. No payments to collectors, no audits, nothing but buying the stamps. This is an average of 15 cents for every resident of the county. On this basis, assuming that realty sales averaged the same the county over, the government collected about $21,000.00 in 1946 from documentary stamps.

START PAINTING
Painters have commenced work in the county commissioners' office, the first job being to wash the walls. The walls of the judges' chambers and a number of other offices will be painted.

RULES OF PROCEDURE
Judge W. Walter Braham has just come into possession of an interesting memento of the early days of the practice of law in this county. It is a copy of the "Rules for the Regulation of Practice in the Several courts within the Seventeenth Judicial District of Pennsylvania". The book was printed by Weyand and Henry, Argus Office, Beaver, Pa., 1853.

The rules are signed by Honorable Daniel Agnew, president judge, date chief justice of the State Supreme Court, and the following associate judges: John Carothers and Joseph Irvin for Beaver County, Samuel Maisholt and John McCandless for Butler County, and John Reynolds and Jacob Bear of Lawrence County.

Apparently the three counties were then one judicial district. Since then Beaver has been made a district and now has three judges. Lawrence is a district with two judges, and Butler is a district with one judge.

As for the associate judges listed, the title means less than it implies. An associate judge was a man elected to perform certain detail work for the judge when he was absent. He had no judicial authority in the trial of cases.

The story is told of an associate judge in Lawrence county many years ago. He was asked what an associate judge did and replied: "Oh, the judge consults with me from time to time."

"When was the last time the judge consulted with you?" was asked.

"One day last July. Court was sitting and the day was warm. Judge ———— leaned over to me and said, 'Joe, don't you think we should open the window?'"

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Hetty as he is, George Sidney was balancing on pins and needles today awaiting final word as to whether he gets Jennifer Jones for the feminine lead in M-G-M's "Cass Timberlake".

One of the town's top directors at the age of 30, George is not even thinking of another actress for the role opposite Spencer Tracy, unless David O. Selznick actually gives him the thumbs-down in the next day or two.

In fact, the projected terms for Jennifer taking the role are so exacting—if it goes through, George will have to wind up her part of the film by an April 1 deadline—he hasn't time to think of an alternate. He said:

"We're building sets and finishing up the final script as rapidly as possible. If Selznick says 'O. K.' we'll start shooting the fifteenth of this month."

That's actually sooner than he'd wish, since only 14 pages of the final shooting script are ready. But, as George added:

"I've started pictures with less script than that ready; even with no script."

While he's had great success directing such musicals as "Holiday in Mexico," "Bathing Beauty," and "Anchors Aweigh," the Sinclair Lewis book is George's first leap into big-time moving making, and he figures Jennifer is the girl to put it over.

Everyone raises his eyebrows now and then at Hollywood, but here's the fellow who makes a living at it. His name is Walter Teley, and he's the little fellow whose voice you hear as "Leroy" on Hal Peary's "Great Gildersleeve" show each week from the movie capital.

Walter is considerably older than the mythical nephew. Your correspondent asked him how he managed to swing his voice into the too-knowing accents Leroy employs when addressing his Uncle Mort. Cluckles Walter:

"Believe it or not, all I do is raise my eyebrows. I keep my eyebrows raised all through the broadcast, and for some reason I don't understand myself, the voice just comes out that way."

Persons Refusing Open Shop Work Denied Pay Grants

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Persons who refuse work in an open shop to save their union cards are not entitled to unemployment compensation.

The ruling was handed down in a 6 to 1 decision by the state supreme court. Justice Jones dissented in yesterday's opinion.

The superior court had ruled in favor of a carpenter, John Seifing, a member of the APL United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, a former employee of Barclay White Co., Philadelphia.

Seifing turned down a job with the Sun shipbuilding yards in Chester because his union's bylaws forbade him to work for less than $1.58 an hour—or at a non-union shop.

Supreme Court Justice Drew pointed out in the majority opinion that Seifing had turned down "suitable work because of some contract he voluntarily entered into outside of his employment."

"By what stretch of the imagination," Justice Drew asked, "could it be said that such a person is involuntarily unemployed?"

The 16 institutions operated by the Nebraska Board of Control annually produce approximately 2,200,000 pounds of vegetables on their 700 acres of gardens.

CORRECT FEEDING GIVES STEADY EGG PRODUCTION

Keep a close watch on feed consumption during cold weather for an advance check on egg production. Good appetites in the laying flock are a good indication for continued steady egg yield.

Revising the grain-mash ratio serves to stimulate appetites, often to the extent of off-setting the effects of weather and other environmental changes.

Be sure that enough feed hoppers are available so that every bird gets plenty of feed. Hoppers should not be filled to the top, as the hens will waste feed.

Uniontown Is Home Town Of Marshall

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 8.—(INS)—This city of 22,000 population in the center of the Pennsylvania soft coal fields today was quick to lay claim as the "home town" of newly appointed United States Secretary of State Gen. George C. Marshall.

Gen. Marshall was born in Uniontown December 31, 1880. His parents were Kentuckians and his father was one of Uniontown's most prominent citizens—a manufacturer and a soft coal broker.

The new secretary of state, succeeding James P. Byrnes who resigned last night, embarked on his military career early, attending Virginia Military Institute. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the regular army on his 21st birthday.

Tow W. Jagielly Society Election

At the December meeting of the Tow W. Jagielly society the following officers were elected to serve for the year: president, Walter Bok; vice president, Stanley Cwynar; financial secretary, Joseph Gargacz; recording secretary, John F. Stodolack; treasurer, Rudolph Spencik; trustees, Julian Kaczmarek, John Zbieg and Joseph Jozefczyk; inside guard, Joseph Car, and color bearer, Stanley Platek.

Brazil is the largest republic in the western hemisphere.

Casa Savoia Lodge Installs Officers

At a regular meeting of the Casa Savoia society, South Mill street, held recently, the following officers were installed by Angelo Genocchi, past president: Phil Frasso, president (re-elected); Domenick Palmieri, vice-president; Frank Frasso, corresponding secretary; Charles Santillo, treasurer; Joe Spineili, financial secretary; Cataldo Durelli, Joe Cepro and Frank Benigas, trustees; Pasquale Zona, sick committee chairman.

Phil Frasso was presented with a lovely bouquet by Mrs. Rose Zona and the president gave a carnation to each officer.

John Casaccia, member for nearly 50 years, the oldest member of the lodge, made an address. Raymond Peluso and Angelo Genocchi also spoke on behalf of the lodge welfare.

Following the meeting, the president sponsored a supper and refreshments, which were prepared by the auxiliary members. Later there was music and entertainment by Anthony DeLaverson and party.

RELEASED FROM NAVAL HOSPITAL

Walter S. Powell, apprentice seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Powell, 514 Harbor street, has been discharged from treatment at the naval hospital, Bainbridge, Md.

Powell, who entered the Navy September 11, 1946, has returned to the training center to finish his recruit training. Before entering the service he attended George Washington high school.

English Soldier Desires Pen Pal From New Castle

Sergeant Interested In Ideas, Customs Of America, Writes Letter To News

S-Sgt. P. A. W. Harding, a member of the English army, has written to The News in search of a young person in the city who may wish to correspond with him and satisfy his interest in the United States.

Harding writes that he is intensely interested in American customs, ideas and ways of life and will faithfully correspond with another youth who may wish to exchange such information via letters.

The British sergeant is six feet, six inches tall, and 21 years of age. His interest, other than those stated, include Rugby football, dancing, swimming, motor-cycling (both trials and scrambles) and his trade, which is auto mechanic.

His address is sergeant's mess, T. C. R. E. M. E., Hazebrouk barracks, Arbofield, Reading, Berks, England.

Five Pass Test To Operate Auto

Because of inclement weather only six persons applied for a test to operate a motor vehicle in Pennsylvania when state police conducted a test Tuesday at the Armory course. Five of the six won a license. Tests will be held again next Tuesday, commencing at 9 a. m. and concluding at 4 p. m.

The names of those who passed yesterday are as follows:

Ralph C. Shaw, 213 East Sheridan avenue, Lincoln, 1219 South Jefferson street.

Laura L. Funkhouser, 708 Allen street.

Jimmy R. Broad, R. D. 2.

Paul E. Grist, New Middletown, O., R. D. 1.

IN THE OPEN

Once in a great while the countryman gets over-ambitious. As the saying goes he "bites off more than he can chew". He refuses to believe that he's not as young as he used to be and tears out on an extended week-end hike through the countryside, practically knocking himself out while still four miles from home. From then on he plops along wearily, his feet hurting and his back out of kilter. Finally he makes it to his dooryard and practically falls across the threshold.

When he came awake that morning he was fresh as a daisy. The back porch thermometer stood at an even 30 degrees. A glance down the valley revealed that all traces of the late snowfall were gone and the footing was dry and sure. A light overcast was tight-locked across the sky and the mild occasional breeze only served to add zest to the tangy mid-winter forenoon.

Bundles Up Warmly

Wise to the weather tricks of the winter countryside he bundles up warmly, trying out for the first time a heavy shirt and a pair of wool socks that Santa Claus left under the Christmas tree. He stows away a bowl of hot cereal and a second cup of coffee. Thus fortified, he hunts up his almanac walking stick, veteran of many delightful wayside miles, and sets off down the valley.

For the first few miles he skims over fences and leaps brook channels with careless disregard of his aching muscles. He notes that nearly all the common winter birds are actively seeking provender in the thickets, and is delighted to come across several industrious flocks during the day. His notes include the Carolina wren, brown creeper, tufted titmouse, black-cap chickadee, downy woodpecker, hairy woodpecker, song sparrow, cardinal grosbeak and junco.

Strikes Swinging Bridge

After cruising some two miles through the second growth timber in the valley he crosses an abandoned field and comes out at the swinging bridge which traverses the wide valley stream. This bridge has been reconstructed recently and is now a single-plank affair which requires considerable finesse in crossing. He rambles through another wide field, then crosses a railway right-of-way and climbs the far hill by way of the farmer's haulage road.

By following this circuitous route he finally reaches the crest of the ridge and pauses to chart his course. Here he makes his first mistake. Instead of wisely turning left and making a short half-circle back to his own acres, he elects to follow a line fence stretching straight ahead to some interesting timberland another mile or so distant. This is open country and he finds the going easy.

Wild cherry grows along this fence-row, and scrub sassafras, and some healthy looking blackberries which will bear watching next summer. He pockets a half-dozen cocoons of the wild cherry moth and notes a large patch of the fruit clusters of one of the smilax clan. Then he makes one last dash along the fence line and reaches the timberland, which harbors another group of the feathered mites who reside in his home valley.

Here, at long last, he finally turns and follows a course edging this far timberland. An opening reveals a beautiful wooded glen, with a talking brook chattering along through its center. Beech and maple and a few oaks stand here in park-like formality, and he is surprised to find this quiet retreat within walking distance of his dooryard.

Rather Rough Going

Another mile or so of rather rough going across ploughed ground brings him to a lookout point high above the valley floor, with the upper reaches of his home valley stretching out far below. Here he finds a hand-whittled pinwheel spinning merrily against a tree on the edge of the cliff. Some previous pedestrian had carved the blade and set it there in that vantage point, to lure the perpetual breeze that sweeps that jutting promontory.

About this time he notices that his knee joints are functioning rather painfully and that his boots seem rather heavy. He makes his way down across the hills and comes out once again on the railway track, which he follows to a roadway bridge which allows him back on his home side of the creek. He is still some three miles from home and has no alternative but to plod it out.

He follows a pathway through familiar thickets for the first mile of this last hour afield. Then he comes to some rough country and finds that he is ready to call it a day. Each fence becomes a minor agony and every time his foot slips his back betrays the fact with painful emphasis. Finally, with many "breather" stops, he climbs the last rise and looks down at the welcome sight of his home fences.

One last effort gets him up and over the high board fence across the highway from his front lawn and he limps into the cellar, where he keeps his muddy hiking boots. The only thing that keeps him from passing out right there is the aroma of roast beef on the table upstairs.

Installation of the newly elected officers will take place next Sunday at the Sunday school session, and during the evening service of the church.

Ex-Schoolmate Now His Teacher

DELAWARE, O.—(INS)—For six years John Aker and Priscilla Smith were classmates in a Canton grade school.

Then Priscilla moved to Massillon. Both finished high school and Priscilla matriculated at Ohio Wesleyan university while John served a three-year hitch in the army.

This fall, the two were in class together again—but there was one slight change.

John Aker, matriculating as a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan, is a student in speech 103. His instructor is his onetime classmate, pretty blonde Priscilla.

FOR 1947

we are planning

THE BIGGEST YEAR OF EXPANSION

in our history

We're planning to put up 14 new buildings and to install central office equipment in them — make major additions to 15 others — and to enlarge almost every central office in the state . . . a central office expansion program twice the size of last year's, which was, itself, one of our biggest.

We're planning to place 450,000 miles of wire . . . wire enough to reach from here to the moon and almost back again, or to go 18 times around the earth.

We're planning for continued record-breaking installations of telephones—to add nearly 200,000 to the total now in service in Pennsylvania's cities, towns and rural areas.

We're planning, by the end of this year, to have telephone service available for nearly everyone who wants it, anywhere in the territory we serve.

It's an enormous job—a $65,000,000 job, as a matter of fact—and it may not all be clear sailing. We'll have plenty of obstacles to overcome. Some of them—like continuing shortages of basic materials—are with us now. Others—unpredictables beyond our control—may arise to plague us. But we've faced them before and we'll face them again.

So we're going ahead, in spite of anything and everything. We have the organization and the know-how, the ingenuity and the resourcefulness, the desire and the will to get this job done . . . to take this $65,000,000 stride towards giving Pennsylvanians the finest telephone service in the world.

Carver Selects Joe Louis Best Athlete Of Year

INS Sports Editor Says "No Figure In Post-War Athletics Stands Out As Great"

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Numerous polls and expressions of individual experts have established one and then another athlete as the top hand of the year 1946, which leads me to offer one meek vote for Joe Louis.

No other figure in the frenzied postwar competition stood out so boldly. He made only two appearances but they were enough.

He proved against Billy Conn that the aging legs which were expected to fold up were still good enough to keep a previous time boxer in full flight, and to catch up with that boxer finally for a knockout.

Best In Business
Louis then absorbed one of Tami Mauriello's famed sleep-laden wallop at the first bell and then the premises of Mauriello before the end of that opening round.

Baseball honors were divided among Ted Williams and Stan Musky, voiced valuable man in respective leagues, and Bob Feller, who broke records hurling for the Cleveland Indians.

Ben Hogan did some notable things in golf, to lead that business, and other athletes—and a horse named Assault—accomplished enough to fill the headlines, but none so clearly dominated his field as the heavyweight champion did in his comeback from long Army service.

No More Opponents
He fought himself out of opposition in just two shots and left 1947 denuded in advance of anything resembling a real title fight.

Louis undoubtedly will go to bat during the next year. One almost certain opponent is Curtis Sheppard, the famed valuable man of Baltimore, a strapping, strong fellow who can hit.

It is barely possible, of course, that Louis is ripe to be taken and that Sheppard might be the one to do it. Champions can't go on forever—at least they never have.

But on his past performances, including this year, Louis has left himself nothing resembling a bona fide opponent on a comparison of records.

Target To Shoot At
You might go father and call Louis the standout athlete of the last decade, which gives Sheppard, Bruce Woodcock, the British champion, and all the rest a target to shoot at.

When they shoot at Louis personally, they are firing on a man well past his athletic prime and whose career was interrupted at or beyond the peak by the war.

May Have Slipped
What he accomplishes next year will depend greatly on how far he has slipped. Age as much as anything will contribute to his downfall if defeat is in the books for him during the next few months. If he manages to get through 1947 and his "rejuvenation" is doing all right up in Harlem at the end of that time he very likely will hang up the gloves, as he has often said he would like to do.

For purposes of the present, he must have been our top athlete of this year and, as mentioned, perhaps of the last decade. Some will go so far as to say he was the best heavyweight of all times, which also could be true.

Grid Changes Are Discussed

Five Major Changes For 1947 Grid Rules Are Under Consideration

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Proposed changes in football rules took the limelight at the recent convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which consists of some 200 colleges.

The American Football Coaches Association recommended five changes in the rules, which will be considered by the NCAA rules committee in its meeting at Kenville, Tex., starting Jan. 30.

Five Changes Proposed
The committee of 19 members recommended:

1. That a blocked conversion try be considered dead and that no advance of the ball may be made.
2. Move the ball 20 yards in from the sidelines instead of the present 15.
3. In regard to substitutions, no penalty or time out be charged while the clock is in motion.
4. That the rules be re-worded to make clear that shifts which tend to draw an opponent offside are unethical and illegal.
5. That players' wearing apparel be softened wherever possible.

The evil of gambling, as it affects intercollegiate sport, was aired at the convention. Bookies and their point-giving business were discussed.

Additional problems were discussed by the American Association on college baseball coaches, the College Physical Education Association, and the new Navy V-5 Instructors Association.

New Castle Rifle Club Wins Match

New Castle Rifle club defeated Evans City Vets Rifle club at the Cathedral range 1187 to 1064 to remain tied for second place in the Interstate Rifle league. Wilbur Thomas, local club president, was high man for the match with a brilliant 244 string out of a 250 possible.

Scores of the match are as follows: New Castle—Thomas 244, Williams 238, Moore 237, Gilch 234, Carrigan 233. Total 1187; other New Castle scores—Gardner 222, Bowers 224, Davidson 230; Evans City Vets—Padina 225, Voegly 211, Dunbar 211, Schmid 192, Gardner 215, total 1064.

Secretary Paul Carrigan announced today that the members will have an important meeting tonight at the Cathedral range at 8 o'clock, and all members are urged to be present, also any ex-service-men who care to shoot with the local club.

The Phillies have lined up a 30-game spring training schedule that includes games with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and the pennant winning Boston Red Sox.

More Snow Falls In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Fresh snow up to two inches in depth today covered highways in Pennsylvania.

Northern areas, particularly Venango and Warren counties, experienced the heaviest snowfalls, according to the State Highways department.

Light flurries shrouded north central and northern districts last night while an inch of snow fell in Cambria county, the department said. Fresh snow was reported in Jefferson, Westmoreland and Washington counties and rain and sleet storms in Fayette and Somerset counties.

Athletics Take Over Niagara Falls Club

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 8.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Athletics of the American League have signed a working agreement with the Niagara Falls frontiers of the Middle Atlantic Baseball League.

The agreement was signed by William J. Burns, general manager of the Athletics, and Art Ehlers, manager of the A's farm system.

The Niagara club, a class "C" ball team, finished fourth last year.

Sacred Hearts To Battle Youngstown

Sacred Hearts basketball team will go to Youngstown tonight for a game with the famous C-Me team at the Youngstown Armory at 9 o'clock. The Sacred Hearts are asked to meet at the corner of Mill and Division at 8 o'clock, by Manager Nickie George.

Steve Belloise Defeats Harris

Steve Belloise, New York middleweight, today wondered just what it takes to knock out a short, barrel-chested foe who can fight out of a "shell" with the facility of a snapping turtle.

Belloise pounced out a unanimous 10-round decision over Ossie (Bull-Dog) Harris of Pittsburgh last night, but the victory didn't come with the ease he had expected.

It took him two rounds to catch up with the crab-like Harris, who kept flicking a left-hand to the New Yorker's face all the way. But even once he found the range, Belloise was unable to do more than negligible damage to the Pittsburgh Bulldog, and although he won seven rounds, the margins were not too great.

Belloise connected with a good right now and then and had the edge in the infighting, but couldn't land the knockout punch a crowd of 3,246 that paid $11.295 wanted.

Pleads Guilty To Fraud Against U. S. Government

Philadelphia Contractor Reveals He Padded Payrolls, Bills
For $267,000

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Joseph R. Williams, 70-year-old Philadelphia engineering contractor, pleaded guilty on Tuesday in U. S. district court to defrauding the government of more than $267,000 in padding payrolls and bills. The guilty plea by the head of the Pioneer Engineering company took government attorneys by surprise. He and two other men went on trial Monday on the charges. The other defendants, Abraham Bass, a lumber operator, and Steve Vincovitch, owner of a ship and tank cleaning firm, announced to their attorneys that they would plead no defense. Williams' counsel also announced that one of his firms, the Pacey M. Corp., would plead guilty to charges of defrauding the government of more than $44,000. Williams Engineering company received more than six million dollars worth of government contracts for the repair and reconditioning of war damaged ships.

Bass was accused of defrauding the government of $24,000, while Vincovitch is alleged to have defrauded the government of $16,000.

ORDER NEW SEWAGE WORKS PLANNED IN PURE STREAM DRIVE

NORRISTOWN, Jan. 8.—(INS)—The Sanitary Water Board said today that 553 municipalities, industries and institutions have been ordered to prepare plans for sewage treatment works in line with the pure streams drive.

Latest community to be directed by the board to prepare plans was Glen Rock in York county, while a similar notice was sent to the National Transit Pump & Machine Co., of Oil City.

The board said 430 industries have been ordered to blueprint plans for industrial waste treatment works and that 150 anthracite operators have applied for approval of silt removal systems.

More than 1600 mine drainage reports have been submitted by 95 per cent of the state's bituminous producers, the board said.

Most Norwegians live on or near the coast.

Officer Given Divorce; Wife's Bargain Too Much

Little Woman Wanted Divorce,
'Easy' Job, Auto, Bungalow,
Trips Alone

ATLANTIC, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Capt. Bernard L. Goddard was awarded a divorce decree in Atlantic City Tuesday after telling the judge his wife drove too hard a bargain.

The army captain said Mrs. Goddard agreed to live with him at Fort Meade, Md.—if:

1. Goddard had a furnished bungalow waiting.
2. He bought a car.
3. Got her an "easy job" with week-ends off.
4. Let her go on week-end trips "alone".
5. Gave her a divorce.

Ultimatum
That, briefly, Goddard said was his wife's ultimatum in a letter which he read to Advisory Master Linwood Erickson.

The army captain quoted from the letter:

"I want a job with Saturdays and Sundays off and the right to take trips alone. You must have matters straightened out about your estate. But I want a divorce more than anything else in the world. I am doing this for you but as for love, it isn't there."

Mrs. Goddard added:
"Make things definite."

To this, the veteran of three years overseas, said:

"Nuts."

Goddard denied he would eventually inherit a $100,000 estate, which she claims he is heir to in answer to the divorce suit.

Sees Amendments To Plug Holes In Pure Stream Law

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Possible amendments to plug loopholes in the anti-stream pollution law were foreseen today by Rep. Charles R. Brunner, (R) Montgomery, author of the measure enacted by the General Assembly during its 1945 session.

Studies were being made to determine whether the law had failed to cover all polluters, he reported. If loopholes were discovered, corrective legislation would be presented to the General Assembly this year, he added.

Brunner said he would sponsor a bill designed to appropriate $5,000,000 to continue desilting the Schuylkill river during the 1947-49 biennium.

The commonwealth was pledged to contribute $15,000,000 over a six-year period toward the federal-state clearance project estimated to cost $30,000,000.

State participation in the program was authorized in 1945 by the legislature which appropriated the first $5,000,000. The state's program called for dredging between Norristown and Auburn while the federal government was slated to remove coal residue between Norristown and Philadelphia.

Somaliand has been known from ancient times as regio aromatica because of the large number of aromatic plants found there.

Postwar Planning Commission Not To Renew Program

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—The Postwar Planning Commission announced today it would not ask the General Assembly to renew its program slated to expire May 31, 1947.

Director Mark S. James said the commission was willing to dissolve because "the major portion of our work will be completed by the end of the biennium and applications for blueprinting grants after that can be handled easily by the department of commerce."

"There is no need to continue operating the commission," James said. "I don't believe in needless spending of money and operating of surplus bureaus and commissions."

The commission was given $1,000,000 in 1945 to aid political subdivisions draft plans for public works projects. Payments ranged up to 50 per cent of the costs.

James said approximately $750,000 was earmarked for 300 communities while $300,000 of it had been distributed.

PLENTY OF BAKED SPUDS AT CAPITAL FARM SHOW OPENING

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—(INS)—Spectators attending the 1947 state farm show opening January 13 at Harrisburg were assured today that plenty of delicious baked potatoes would be on sale.

Five electric ovens capable of turning out 10,000 baked spuds daily will be located at the Pennsylvania Potato Growers' Association booth during the five-day show, according to President Hugh McPherson of Bridgeton.

The association will hold a two-day meeting to be attended by Nina Hershner of Cross Roads, 1946-47 potato blossom queen. Miss Hershner was named queen at the association's annual potato blossom festival at Coudersport last summer.

LITTLE BEAVER

Mr. and Mrs. Guss Abrams and son, Gary, of East Palestine, O., were callers at the home of friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Veon and family of Beaver Valley called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Knepp last Wednesday.

Mrs. H. C. Dudas and daughter were in Beaver Falls recently.
